Endeca, a provider of search and Guided Navigation solutions, has announced that Abebooks, an online marketplace for books, has selected Endeca InFront to power search and navigation across all of its international sites. Offering a collection of new, used, rare, and out-of-print titles, Abebooks offers readers, collectors, students, and treasure hunters access to independent booksellers worldwide. Abebooks is designed to help independent booksellers improve their competitive position by listing their books online, and by providing management tools that help booksellers benefit from a low-cost, online sales channel. Abebooks selected Endeca InFront in an effort to provide customers with quick access to a large and diverse database of books, without overwhelming the user with a long results lists.
